

Summer Activities

So you don't have to wonder,
"What am I going to do with these kids all summer!?"

Summer

is my favorite season. I love the warm, the sunshine, and all of the excuses to be outside. Of course the trout fishing isn't too terrible either.

But, like most moms, by some point in May, I'm already thinking, "What are we going to do this summer?" So I sat down and came up with a theme of focus for each week, and made Pinterest boards with ideas already organized. THEN I thought, "Maybe I should just share this."

So mix & match weeks! Check out my ever growing BOOK LIST with books for the whole family. Do them all or do 1 or 2. My HOMESCHOOL BOARD has the sections featured & more. Whether you homeschool or not, we can all use a little help to get through the summer!

As always, we love to see our friends and I'd love for you to tag @thenurturedbee

on Instagram!

Our Fav Things

Regardless of how you're choosing to school your children, or where you are located in the country, there are a few things I recommend doing during the summer months, that likely aren't on the activity boards.

1. READ. I could talk all day about the statistic surrounding reading. I've got a BOOK LIST with books for the whole family that I am adding to regularly.
2. Get outside. If you've followed me for any length of time, you know we participate in the 1000 Hours Outside challenge. Even if you only get 100 hours EXTRA outside this year-it will change your life.
3. Go to at least ONE state or national park. Or one of each!
4. Go to at last ONE zoo and/or aquarium. You will be amazed by what your children know!
5. Go to a garden! There are tons of public free ones, as well as numerous private ones all around the country.
6. Give yourself GRACE. There will be movie days, and days with too much screen time. Days the activity goes sideways. It's ok. YOU'RE DOING GREAT!
